ACADEMIC PROJECTS

Project Name: Incremental Conductance MPPT using CUK Converter.

Role: Team lead Duration: 2 month

Technologies Used: MATLAB

Description: This project presents simulation of incremental conductance maximum power point tracking used in solar array power systems. Contributions are made in several aspects of the whole system, including converter design, system simulation, controller programming. The resultant system is capable of tracking MPPs accurately and rapidly without steady-state oscillation.

Project Name: Daybreak Media Player

Role: Team Leader

Duration: 1 Month

Technologies Used: Google Android, Java

Description: Daybreak Music player application software based on Google Android. The purpose of this project is to develop a player which can play the mainstream music file format. To browse and query the storage space as well as operation of adding, deleting, and playing can be realized.
